Dear parents, carers and families,

I am very pleased to be sending home your child's end of year report today. You will notice that they have created their own 'mindmap' of the year which includes many of the exciting and different learning opportunities they have taken part in. There is a duplicate copy of the report on plain white paper which I would request that you fill in the parent comment box and return to school on Monday morning with your child. If you would like to talk to your child's class teacher about any aspect of the report then please feel free to contact the office and make an appointment next week.

I am also delighted to be sending home your child's topic book today. Within this, you will see a selection of their learning which is focused on their topic learning from this year. I am very proud of the presentation within these books and also the range of different tasks the children have engaged in over the year. Please take the time to look at these this weekend and complete the 'Parent Homework' sheet and return the book and the sheet, again, on Monday morning please.

Our Y6 children also have their end of Key Stage Two SATs results today – again, I am very proud of their academic achievements this year – but equally just as proud of their achievements this week in the summer production! Those of you that were lucky enough to see 'Hoodwinked' will know that all the children worked together fantastically well to act, sing, dance and entertain us with their brilliant show (despite the electrical engineering)! I would like to thank all the class teachers and staff who pulled together to make the performance such a huge success and such a positive and memorable experience for the children - well done!

With every good wish,

David Reddy
